SALISBURY'S REPLY A POSITIVE ONE

WILL NOT ARBITRATE VENEZUELAN DISPUTE.

The British Premier's Answer to Secretary Olney's Suggestion is on Its Way—Yesterday's Senate Proceedings—Wool Men Confer—The Day's Doings at the Capital.

London, Dec. 5.—The reply of the marquis of Salisbury to the note of Secretary Olney on the Venezuelan question is on board the White Star line steamship Britannia, due at New York on Friday next. The essence of the document, it is rumored in diplomatic circles here, is that Great Britain refuses to submit to arbitration any of the territory within the Schomburg line.

Some surprise is expressed at the fact that the reply is not sent through the United States embassy but the United States ambassador, Mr. Thomas F. Bayard, explains that this is in accord with diplomatic usage.

IN THE SENATE.

Our Foreign Policy the Main Topic of Discussion.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The senate worked yesterday, while the house enjoyed a recess, but most of the business transacted was of a routine character. Mr. Hoar showed a disposition toward co-operation with the president in dealing with the Turkish question by offering a resolution denouncing the recent atrocities in Turkey and assuring the executive branch of the cordial indorsement by congress of a vigorous course for the protection of American citizens in Turkey and the suppression of the barbarities against Christianity. The resolution makes specific inquiry as to what American consuls are absent from their posts by reason of the disorder prevailing. The first formal speech of the session was made by Mr. Allen of Nebraska on Cuba and the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Allen urged the recognition of the Cuban insurgents, the annexation of Cuba and a strong foreign policy. Several petitions for the recognition of the Cuban insurgents were presented, and Mr. Squire of Washington, in introducing a bill for fortification of Atlantic, Pacific and lake ports, said the senate was being asked to extend recognition to Cuban belligerents and to firmly reassert the Monroe doctrine. "We are talking of these matters as if we had a chip on our shoulders," he added, "and we go along in blissful ignorance or inaction as to the unfortified condition of our ports."

The Allen resolution defining the foreign policy was taken up, and Mr. Allen urged the recognition of the revolutionists and the annexation of Cuba. The senator strongly urged the reassertion of the Monroe doctrine, so broadened as to secure the ultimate withdrawal of the monarchial dependencies from this continent. The resolution was temporarily laid aside, and the senate, after a ten-minute session, adjourned at 1:35 p. m.

Quite a number of bills and resolutions were introduced. Among them was the following by Senator Voorhees: Increasing all pensions granted under the act of 1890 to $12.

WOOL MEN MEET.

Will Urge Congress to Protect Their Industry by a Revenue Bill.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The large clubroom of the Ebbitt House was well filled yesterday with sheep breeders, wool dealers and wool growers from different parts of the country, assembled in response to a call issued by the National Wool Growers' Association, of which Judge William Lawrence, of Ohio, is president, and W. Avon, of New York, secretary, for the purpose of taking steps toward urging congress to give adequate protection to wool in any revenue bill that may be passed.

Theodore Justice of Philadelphia said the McKinley woolen tariff had yielded or thfre years an annual revneue of $42,000,000. Placing wool on the free list, he said, had so far caused a loss of $100,000,000 to the wool growers. During the day a resolution was offered that congress be asked to pass immediately as a partial measure of relief, schedule K—wool and woolens—of the McKinley tariff law. This, however, was objected to by some of those present on the ground that the duties provided for by that schedule were not high enough, and the resolution, after some discussion, was referred to a committee of five, whose duty it is to draw up a memorial to congress asking for relief for the wool industry.

Populists Stand Together.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The populist members of the senate will probably prevent reorganization by the republicans. Senators Peffer, Allen, Kyle and Butler ranked as straight populists, and Senators Jones and Stewart of Nevada, upon whom some of the republicans have counted for assistance in case of an effort to reorganize, will act together. There is no dissent against a proposition to stand together on the question of organization, and to give no support to either of the old parties in the election of officers of the senate or in other party matters. They have decided to nominate their own candidates for the various officers in case the other parties place candidates in the field. Selections will be deferred until action is made necessary by the republicans and democrats. The republicans now lack three of a majority and will lack one after the Utah senators come in.

Delaware Senatorship Contest.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The last move in the Delaware contested senatorship was made in the senate yesterday when Senator Mitchell presented a letter and accompanying records from H. A. Dupont, claiming the right to be admitted as a senator from Delaware. Delaware's democratic senator, Mr. Gray, thereupon did the courteous act of moving that the privileges of the floor be given his republican quasi-colleague pending determination of his case and Mr. Dupont was brought in and introduced to the senators.

Senator Chandler presented a mass of petitions alleging election frauds in Alabama and claiming the election as governor of Reuben F. Kolb.

Committees Will Soon Be Announced.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Members of the house who have had interviews with Speaker Reed during the last two or three days on the subject of committee appointments believe that the committee list will be announced before or not later than the 15th of the month. The labor organizations of the country are making a concerted effort to secure the appointment of Representative Phillips of Pennsylvania to the chairmanship of the committee on labor. Letters have been presented to Speaker Reed from the chief officials of the Knights of Labor and American Federation of Labor, and some fifteen other organizations asking for the appointment.

Dairy Interests in a New Movement.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The report is current here that the dairy interests are backing a new movement against oleomargarine. It is to be in the nature of a law requiring hotels, restaurants and boarding-houses using packing-house butter to inform guests of the fact by placards and signs placed where everybody can see and read the same. The dairy interests are believed to be behind the two recent stringent regulations of the revenue bureau relative to the labeling of oleo products so as to prevent deception. These regulations cover the foreign as well as the domestic trade.

Approved by Venezuelan Minister.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Minister Andrade, of Venezuela, is highly gratified at that feature of the president's message referring to Venezuela. The minister has cabled the essential points on Venezuela to the government authorities at Caracas, and mailed copies of the full message. Mr. Andrade says it is a clear and forcible statement which will meet with the most cordial reception by the government and people of Venezuela.

For a Uniform Bankrupt Law.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The old fight to secure the passage of a uniform bankrupt law has been renewed in both senate and house, where identical bills have been introduced. Senator Mitchell of Oregon, one of the best lawyers in the senate, is the sponsor for this bill, which, with the index and analysis, uses up eighty-three printed pages.

Presented His Credentials.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Mr. Castle yesterday presented to President Cleveland his letters of recall as Hawaiian minister to the United States, and Mr. Hatch those accrediting him as Mr. Castle's successor. The letters and the president's replies were exceedingly pleasant in tone.

Gov. O'Ferrall Condemns Lynching.

Richmond Va., Dec. 5.—Governor O'Ferrall in his message to the legislature yesterday spoke forcibly on the subject of lynching. The governor says in part: "With pain and mortification I bring to your attention the frequent taking of human life without due process of law within the borders of our state. In Virginia lynching cannot be defended; it must be reprobated." He commends the Walton law as approximating the object desired, "fair and honest elections." He also commends the good-road movement and in a strong argument defends his course in using the militia to prevent prisoners and property from violence at the hands of either strikers or mobs.

To Create a Department of Labor.

New York, Dec. 5.—A conference will be held in this city to-morrow that will cause the introduction of an amendment to the constitution in aid of the workingmen, to be presented during the present session of congress. The main object of this amendment is the creation of a national department of labor. The department will have at its head the president of the United States for the time being, and with ten officers elected by a nation at large will form a grand council, having entire charge of the operations of the department.

Finally Elect a Secretary.

Davenport, Ia., Dec. 5.—The delegates to the annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal church of Iowa met yesterday with the deadlock unbroken after trying to elect a secretary at the sessions of Tuesday afternoon and night, the latter session lasting until 11 o'clock. It took several ballots to reach a conclusion, but in the end Archdeacon Irving McElroy of Waverly was elected. After all the differences of opinions were smoothed over the convention adjourned after discussion of routine work.

HAYWARD'S CRIME IS NOW LAID BARE

INSIDE HISTORY OF THE GING MURDER.

Detective Quinlan Gives to the World the Details of Harry Haywood's Connection With the Case—Murderer's Guilt Established—Adry's Connection With the Affair.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 5.—The closing act in the drama of Harry Hayward's life is at hand, supplied by Michael Quinlan, the detective employed by the Haywards. It is virtually a confession of Hayward's guilt. Quinlan himself evidently believes in it most thoroughly. The most important statement made is that on which the confession is based. Hayward had been discussing with his detective a preposterous plan for getting Adry out of the way. The plot was an exceedingly ingenious and daring one. Quinlan said: "Well, Harry, your scheme is a great one and well put up, but you must remember that you only look at one side of it. You know there are two sides to everything. You remember how well your plot was laid in your last job on the murder of Miss Ging, and you see how poorly you put up that job. You look only at one side of it."

"Well," replied Hayward, petulantly, "who in heaven's name would think his own brother would go back on him? Had Adry stayed by me, I would not have cared what Blixt would have said, or Stewart. They did not disprove my loan to Kit (Miss Ging) on the trial, and that alone would have carried out my theory."

"That," says Quinlan, "was Hayward's confession."

On another occasion Harry said to Quinlan: "If Adry only told all the truth and the facts as they are, he would not help me any, but he would get hanged, just as I expect to be. We both deserve hanging for the crimes we have committed before this."

A third confession is narrated, a bit of unwritten history which is extremely interesting, but which, strange to relate, has never been known throughout the entire case, which has been sifted as finely for facts and evidence as any case that has ever come before the public. It is simply the fact that at one time, while Adry was on the stand, Harry announced to some of his friends that he was going to throw up the sponge and confess the whole thing. He was only deterred from this by the earnest solicitation of those interested in the case, the appeal being placed solely "for his mother's sake."

Quinlan claime to hae secured the first knowledge of the attempt to break jail through a question from Dr. Thaddeus Hayward, who came to his office and wanted to know what he would charge to go away with a man and keep him under cover for one year.

The detective describes the effrontery exhibited by Harry in requesting Quinlan to send to Chicago or St. Louis for a real live cutthroat, who knew his business, and be ready for a consideration to enter Elder Stewart's house, blow chloroform through a quill into the elder's bedroom, and, when he was "gone off," to enter the room, "remoe" him with a rope around his neck, and then clean out the place. Harry was to put the thug "on," so he could make a rich haul, and people would think the elder had been murdered for his money.

Two of the most important bits of evidence, the "T" rail and the soldered can, are touched upon. The connection of the former with Harry Hayward and his first plan to kill Miss Ging with it is shown; how Harry had planned to do the job with it, but failed through "his coward heart." The finding of the can by Quinlan through a note sent by Harry Hayward to him is also explained and forms still a fourth confession of guilt.

One of the most interesting secrets revealed is as to the "stuff" which was put in Blixt's whisky the night of the murder. Quinlan went out to Hopkins' factory and discovered that someone had been out there the day of the murder and purchased $5 worth of nitroglycerin. Growing impatient at the slow flow of the explosive, he had taken half a pint with him and left, saying that his "partner" would come for the balance. The partner never came, and the occurrence was so unusual that the maker of the nitroglycerin and his wife both remembered the circumstance. Quinlan hastened back with the information, hoping that it could be used in the appeal for a new trial. When he had detailed the circumstances Harry replied quickly: "You must drop that at once. It will never do. Why, you will get one of my best friends into trouble."

A good deal of space is devoted to Adry Hayward's connection with the case. Adry, as directly charged by Harry, was interested with him in burning the mill at Hamill, and participated in the profits from the insurance. He also accused Adry of being the robber who held up Harry, Miss Ging, and a companion one evening a year ago last summer at Lake Calhoun. Harry, according to Quinlan, was in the scheme, and held the horse while his brother was trying to snatch diamonds from the occupants of the carriage.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 5.—Robert Schilling of Milwaukee was here yesterday to see Morton Rankin, treasurer of the Populist national committee, to advocate the claims of that city for the convention next year. He says Milwaukee business men will guarantee $5,000 toward the expenses of the convention. Omaha has guaranteed $8,000. The national committee will meet next Monday to decide on a time and place for the convention. The sentiment is in favor of an early convention and April 13, Jefferson's birthday, is oftenest mentioned.

HENRY WATTERSON'S ADVICE.

Congress Should Pass Appropriation Bills and Go Home.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 5.—Henry Watterson, in Omaha yesterday, speaking of the president's message, said: "Nothing will come of it. Congress will not do anything at all and if the republicans are wise they will simply pass the appropriation bills and go home. With different political majorities in the two houses, and Mr. Cleveland in the presidency, it is idle to hope for any agreement upon important measures of legislation. It must be remembered that our national banking system rests upon the national debt, and that if the national debt is wiped out we will be out the whole national banking system with it. That is one of the best banking systems in the world and ought to be maintained."

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 5.—Shortly before midnight last night the village of Allegan, twenty-five miles north of here, was startled by a fire, which completely wrecked the large three-story brick hotel known as the Chaffee house, the best hotel in the city. The guests were hustled out in a hurry, and many with only scanty clothing. The fire spread to the firebrick block owned by H. B. Peck of this city, and that was badly damaged by fire, smoke and water. The entire business portion of the village was threatened, but Allegan's previous fire records had procured a more adequate fire protection, and the firemen and volunteers got the fire under control. The loss is $100,000, partially insured.

MUST ACT SPEEDILY.

Sultan Given Seventy-two Hours to Grant Firmans.

London, Dec. 5.—The Daily Telegraph has a late dispatch from Vienna which reports that the powers have presented an ultimatum to the Porte threatening to force the passage of the Dardanelles unless firmans are issued within seventy-two hours permitting the passage of the second guardship.

Constantinople, Dec. 3, ia Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 5.—The rumor that Sir Philip Currie, the British ambassador, had notified the Porte that Great Britain gave the sultan until Saturday next in which to issue the firmans demanded for the passage of the extra guardship through the Dardanelles and that if they were not forthcoming by that time an extra British guardship would pass the straits without the sultan's permission, cannot be confirmed in official circles. But Sir Philip Currie undoubtedly seems to have made some important communication, the nature of which is not known to Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish minister for foreign affairs.

Washington, Dec. 5.—It is learned from official dispatches to the department of state that Abdul Hamid has been sending private dispatches to Queen Victoria, Emperor William, the czar of Russia and other European sovereigns imploring them to spare him this mortification and predicting that it will be followed not only by serious riots in Constantinople, but by a general uprising of Mohammedans all over the earth, who will avenge the insult to the head of their religion by attacking Christians wherever they find them.

Epworth Leaguers Meet.

New York, Dec. 5.—The semi-annual meeting of the general cabinet of the Epworth League of the Methodist church was held here yesterday. The principal object of the meeting was to make preparations to complete the work which will be laid before the general conference of Methodist churches which will be held in Cleveland in May next. The question of disagreement on religious matters between the Methodist church and Christian Endeavorers was discussed. Her officers and crew, twenty in all, reached Halifax last night and tell a story of suffering and hardship. After remaining in the rigging all night, with the seas going over them, they reached land, and then had to tramp two days and two nights to reach a habitation. They were badly frostbitten and footsore.

Has Hope for Hinshaw.

Danville, Ind., Dec. 5.—Contrary to expectations, the grand jury returned no indictment in the Hinshaw case yesterday. The members of the jury will tell nothing of the evidence that Asher gave them nor what the probable outcome will be. Prosecutor Gully said that he put no faith in Asher's story. Mr. Parker of the defense, however, is still hopeful and says no matter what Asher told the grand jury he believes he is on the right track.

This will be increased about $1,300 by outstanding accounts due the society, which will make this year's balance in round numbers, $5,500. It was decided to move the display of grains, which the state had at the world's fair, from Madison to the fair grounds at Milwaukee, where it is to be kept hereafter. There was no discussion or action taken in regard to the sale of beer on the society's grounds.

Three Men Injured.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 5.—About noon yesterday an accident occurred in the blast furnace of the Bayview Rolling Mills by which Charles Dahlke was probably fatally burned and John Shannon and an unknown man received serious injuries. The door of the large stove, it was noticed, was loose, and Dahlke, aged 22, was tightening it with a wrench when it blew out, and the escaping gas ignited, causing an explosion, by which Dahlke was fearfully burned about the head and face and body, while his two companions, one of whom was John Shannon, aged 19 years, were also seriously burned.

Ward denies that he committed forgeries or has appropriated any money to his own use. He says he left Memphis because the company, of which he was manager, was wrecked, and he could not bear to remain to see the failure. He made a mistake in leaving. His money gave out and he could no longer bribe his way in Central America and a confidential friend gave him away to the detectives for $500.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 5.—The presiding elders of the Methodist Episcopal church in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio are holding a convention here. The Rev. S. D. Whitlock of Bellefontaine, O., discussed the increased efficiency of the presiding elder. ARE PUSHING THE BRIDGE WORK

The C. & N. W. Company Will Rush the New Iron Structures.

Work upon the new iron bridges that are being erected by the Northwestern Company across both North Main and Bluff streets, is progressing as fast as can be expected. At first the work was hindered by the constant passing of trains, but since business has assumed its normal condition, extra men have been put to work, but Contractor Welch expects the work to occupy at least four weeks more. The iron frame work which is now being finished in Chicago, is expected to arrive in the city every day.

WRECKING CREW WORKED FAST

C. & N. W. Men From Here Surprised Jefferson Junction People Yesterday.

Any person who thinks the Janesville wrecking crew of the C. & N. W. is not a good one should have seen them at work at Jefferson Junction yesterday afternoon. A local official of the Northwestern who was there says that they made but very short work of replacing the two cars and an engine which were derailed by a broken rail and about all of Jefferson Junction turned out to see how they did it.

THE STEAK TRUST PUT UP THE PRICE

BUTCHERS NOT IN THE DEAL SO DECLARE.

Suit Begun Against Retailers and Packers to Determine Whether There Really Was a Combine to Force up the Price of Meat in West Superior.

How much of an arrangement about the price of rump steak will be made before it gets to be conspiracy?

That is for the courts to say.

A. A. Jackson as United States Court Commissioner has been hearing evidence in a case that raises the question in a peculiar way.

Martin Santer has sued C. E. Darrow, and Erick Bratt has sued the Armour Packing Co., the Swift Packing Co. and the Cudahy Packing Co. All these suits were begun in West Superior. H. Isaacson, an important witness, lives in this city, however, and after him Attorney William Dwyer came. He took Isaacson, and his son before Court Commissioner Jackson. Isaacson was examined regarding an illegal combine of West Superior market men. It is averred that the meat dealers and Chicago packing houses agreed to keep up the price of meat in West Superior. No meat was to be sold by the packers to retailers outside of the combine unless at higher prices. The outsiders suspected this and took as proof the fact that they always seemed to be lifting the heavy end of the log when it came to getting new customers. Charges of conspiracy were finally made and Santer and Bratt's suits followed. The cases are important as similar conditions are said to exist in five or six cities about the state.

THEY EXPECT A BIG FUR TRADE

Local Buyers Say the Season Will Be a Lively One

Fur dealers are now only waiting for colder weather and more snow so that the trappers can get to work. L. Lovenstein who buys for a St. Paul fur house and L. Kennedy of this city say Janesville is getting to be the headquarters for shipments of furs for Rock and the adjoining counties and both predict for the coming season a brisk trade. The reason they advance is that a number of persons who have nothing else to do during the winter, will spend their time in trapping.

Clergymen's Half Fare Permits.

For the information of clergymen and other religious offices entitled to travel on half fare permits, a synopsis of ruling for 1896 is herewith given: The application classifies (a) (b) (c) (d), showing those persons entitled to annual and those to only trip permits. The applicant fills in opposite his class; obtains the indorsement of local agent and then forwards application with fifty cents in check, draft, postal or delivers order to B. D. Caldwell, chairman Western Passenger Association, Chicago, Ill.

The annual permit covers 37 miles of railway in western states and is a valuable bit of cardboard. The trip permit covers only between certain points and is limited to 30 days. The signature of one agent at a point where there are several railways will suffice for all. Blanks can be obtained at the depot new and may be fully endorsed and sent in at once for permits for 1896.

Read the Death Roll

Which the bills of mortality of any large city may be fitly designated, and you will find that renal and vesical maladies, that is to say, those that affect the kidneys and bladder, have a remarkable prominence—we had almost said—preponderance. Bright's disease and diabetes in the chronic stare are rarely cured, and gravel, catarrh, of the bladder and enuresis, slay many. Yet at the outset, when the trouble merely amounts to inactivity of the organs involved, the danger may be nullified by that thorough renal tonic and diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bliters, which imparts the requisite amount of tone to the organs, without overexciting them, and the use of which is convenient, and involves no elaborate preparation. Dyspepsia, a usual concominant of renal complaints, and debility, which they invariably produce, are remedied by it. So also are constipation, malarial, rheumatic and nervous ailments.

GHASTLY RESTING PLACE.

Man Who Slept Twenty Years in a Coffin and Then Died in It.

It is almost never that a man dies in a coffin, but the Hinsdale Leader says that is exactly what old Barney Frickers of Alliance, O., did when he finally gave up the ghost in the fall of 1890. For more than twenty years "old Barney" had been haunted with the idea that he was on the verge of the grave. Every evening he declared that he would never again see the sun rise. He constantly brooded over his queer hallucination, and never allowed himself to go to sleep without being carefully prepared for death and burial. Every night he robed himself in his grave clothes and solemnly laid down in his coffin and passed the night firmly believing and probably hoping that for him the day would never dawn again. Finally death came, but, grim and sly as he was, he did not find "old Barney" unprepared. The coffin in which this queer old character had so often awakened disappointed was of his own make, and was said to have been a curiosity in itself, being literally covered with all kinds, patterns and sizes of allegorical paintings.

Sleeping Car Beds.

A genius has devised for sleeping carriages a system of beds made of rubber bags, which are to be stretched over steel frames and inflated with hot air from the locomotive. In 15 minutes an entire car can be made ready for the night. In the morning, when the hot air is turned off, the mattress and pillows will immediately collapse.

No paper in the world gives so many ideas for the profitable use of advertisings space, and none is so well worth study by business men and clerks. "The Little Schoolmaster" as it is nicknamed, gives dozens of ready-made ads. each week and discusses thoughtfully and suggestively the means by which advertising can be made to pay and nearly as swift the trains of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. make their trips between Chicago and New York, weaving closer and closer day by day the many mutual interests of these great commercial centers of the United States. Departing from the Van Buren street station, located in the heart of the business district of Chicago and arriving in New York at the Grand Central station, 42nd street the popularity of this line in point of time and convenience is readily understood. It seems almost superfluous to add that for this service the equipment embodies all that is new and modern in the art of car building, apparently nothing that would give one a feeling of safety, comfort and luxury, has been overlooked. The schedule provides morning, afternoon and evening trains. Latest time table with any information desired will be promptly furnished on application. J. R. Hurley, T. P. A., 95 Wisconsin street, Milwaukee, Wis.; C. K. Wilber, Western Passenger Agent, Chicago.

If suffering with piles, it will interest you to know that De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure them. This medicine is a specific for all complaints of this character, and if instructions (which are simple) are carried out, a cure will result. We have tested this in numerous cases, and always with like results. It never fails. C. D. Stevens.

CAN'T FOOL HANNAH.

She Knew Her Business and Would Not Be Cheated.

The other day a little old woman arrived at the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee depot from the interior of the state, and as baggage she had an old trunk bound around with a generous quantity of old clothesline, says the Detroit Free Press. She wanted to go to the house of her daughter, in the northern part of the city, and, walking up to one of the hackmen at the door, she said:

"Don't undertake to come any of your games over me, for you can't beat Hanner Smith to save your life."

"I wouldn't cheat you, ma'am," replied the hackman.

"And you'd better not try. I'm the woman who broke a tin peddler's arm for tryin' to cheat me out of two pounds of paper rags. How much to take me up to my darter's on Forest avenue avenue—me and my trunk?"

"A dollar and a half, ma'am."

"A dollar and a half!" she repeated, as her arms went up. "I'll never give it. I'd see you biled and baked afore I'd give you even a dollar. I told you in the beginning you couldn't beat Hanner Smith."

"Reg'lar price, ma'am, and it's a long drive up there."

"Makes no difference!" she snapped, as she set her jaw. "I've been thinkin' the matter over fur the last two hours and I don't pay a red cent over 50 cents. Why, we'd yoke up our oxen and drive ten miles for $1.50."

"I'm only asking reg'lar rates, ma'am. You can't find anybody to take you up there for less."

"Then I'll walk."

"Yes'm, but you have a trunk."

"Then Hanner Smith will carry her trunk on her shoulder. Fifty cents or no?"

"Couldn't do it, ma'am."

"All right, sir—all right. I've carried a bushel of corn on my back five miles, and that trunk don't weigh half as much. Hanner Smith knows her business, and don't you forget it."

"Better git in, ma'am."

"No, sir! Fifty cents, or no ride."

And she went back to the baggage room and claimed her trunk, and was about to shoulder it, when the special officer protested and said he would have it sent up for 25 cents and she could go on the car.

"Well, that may do," she replied, as she rubbed her hands on her dress. "Yes, you may send it up, and I'll take the hoss keers and git thar some way, but if two shillin's don't pay the bill when the trunk comes out, look out fur Hanner Smith! I'm willin' to pay all a thing is wuth, but when anybody tries to beat Hanner Smith they'd better fool with a wagon load of razors."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

CUSTER.

1560—Francis II of France, husband of Marie Stuart, queen of Scots, and the indirect cause of the war between Huguenots and Catholics, died; born 1543.

1639—Sir Henry Watton, English diplomatist and author, died; born 1568.

1661—Robert (Lord) Harley, earl of Oxford, English statesman and patron of letters and maker of the famous Harleian collection of books and manuscripts, born in London; died 1724. Harley entered political life as a Whig and gradually identified himself with the Tories. He entered parliament and became one of Queen Anne's ministers. Upon her death his prospects waned, and he was impeached and imprisoned. As a patron of letters he made a valuable collection of famous manuscripts, which upon his death were bought by parliament and placed in the British museum.

1839—General George Armstrong Custer born in Ohio; killed at Little Big Horn 1876.

1891—Dom Pedro II (Peter de Alcantara), ex-emperor of Brazil, died in exile at Paris; born in Rio Janeiro 1825.

THE CONCERN OF ALL.

If the local "good citizenship" committees live up to their aim their influence will be vital. They strive to interest in public affairs a class that too often stand aloof.

The American people have the reputation of taking more interest in politics than any other country; but, as a matter of fact, this interest is apt to be only spasmodic, generally speaking, and not regular and persistent. When there is a president to be elected, for instance, they rally to the support of their respective parties in a zealous way, and as long as the campaign lasts the air is filled with political enthusiasm. But after the election, calmness and lukewarmness ensue, and nobody seems to be concerned about the matters that so recently caused so much activity and excitment. This comparative lethargy usually continues until the time draws near for another casting of votes; and meanwhile gross abuses often creep into the processes of legislation and administration, and trusted agents turn out to be dissappointing because they have not been properly watched. The average citizen is absorbed in his private business to an extent that practically suspends his relation to politics, and the public interests are left to the mercy of circumstances

This form of neglect, this evasion of duty and responsibility, is the source of most of our political evils and misfortunes and good citizenship committees around the country are working that this may no longer be true.

CORPORATIONS THAT PAY.

London is following the lead of some of the English and Scotch cities in retaining control of municipal franchises. The population under London jurisdiction is placed at 5,633,806 and the annual municipal expenditure exceeds $107,000. The London authorities now stipulate what use shall be made of the streets by those engaged in the transportation of passengers, what wages they shall pay employes, and the number of hours constituting a day's labor. The water supply of the city is the largest problem now in hand. It is proposed to build two aqueducts, respectively 170 and 150 miles in length, at a cost of $200,000,000 and by compulsory purchase take the water system out of the hands of the eight private companies now controlling the supply. All the street cars in Glasgow now wear the city's coat of arms and fares are regulated on the basis of a cent a mile, the employees receiving higher wages with shorter hours. Leeds has bought its street railways and Manchester supplies hydraulic power to all citizens who need it. These municipal enterprises invite the close attention of all other important cities throughout the world.

Dr. Turner in his Fortnighly club lecture remarked that the democratic party had gone for fifty years without changing name or form—but for that matter so had small pox. Speaker Reed made a suggestion just about as cheering when he remarked that the democratic party will not die—there always must be some party to be the tail of the procession.

The republican majority in congress would be very foolish to adopt Mr Cleveland's financial policy. That would mean taking all the blame and getting none of the credit.

Rock county's claims for an independent senatorial district will be given a fair hearing in Madison, and something better than last month's appointment ought to result.

Now that the succulent sausage and the nutritious but inexpensive chuck steak have been made subjects for a combine a popcorn trust is confidently expected.

Several things were omitted from the president's message in spite of its length. One was an explanation as to what has become of the surplus.

Democrats must have thought Mr. Cleveland's 20,000 word message was talking enough. They have been speechless ever since.

There will be a movement during the next year to admit all the remaining territories to statehood. The idea isn't a bad one. If the territories can afford it perhaps the rest of the country can.

There is no fooling about Commissioner Watson's "clean sidewalk" order. Shoulder your shovel or pay a fine.

There should be no time lost in opening the Y. M. C. A. building. It is needed in winter most grievously.

Democrats have fixed it so there will be no "squandering of the surplus" by the new congress.

Business men feel more confident now that a republican congress is in charge.

A RELIABLE PILE CURE.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is the safest and surest pile cure on the market, because it contains no mineral poisons nor opium nor cocaine, but can be used with absolute safety and certainty of cure.

Many physicians are now using the Pyramid Pile Cure in place of surgical operations, being painless, convenient to use, and the patient can attend to his daily occupation while the cure is being made, as it is used at night and no additional treatment is necessary.

Dr. Wharton says the Pyramid Pile Cure will prove a blessing to mankind, when it is remembered that heretofore a surgical operation was considered the only cure with all its danger to life, intense pain and an expense of from ten to one hundred dollars, to say nothing of the possible return of the trouble. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 Cents and $1.00 and does the work quickly and safely.

A book on cause and cure of piles will be mailed free by addressing Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

CASE WAS DROPPED WITHOUT A TRIAL

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST JOHN GRUBB DISMISSED.

Fifty Dollars Was Paid to the Attorneys For Plaintiff in Settlement and Litigation Ended—Jury Decides Against E. H. and C. W. Dudley—Court Doings.

There was a very abrupt ending to the damage case of Nellie M. Cyr against John Grubb in the circuit court.

Mrs. Cyr brought suit on the ground that she had been violently ejected from Grubb Bros. grocery.

After the jury was drawn there was a suggestion of compromise. The matter was finally arranged by Mr. Grubb's consenting to pay Mrs. Cyr's attorneys' fees—$25 apiece to J. L. Mahoney and John M. Olin and at 2 o'clock the case was dismissed. The defendant was represented by E. M. Hyzer and John Winans.

The jury in the case of the First National Bank against Dr. E. H. Dudley and his mother, Cynthia W. Dudley this noon returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and against both defendants, in the sum of $2,395.06.

The case had to do with a note for $2,200. The defendants gave their note for sixty days to the plaintiff, both parties signing it, and it being understood it was said, that the money was to be used for improvements on the farm. The interest was paid by Dr. Dudley as it came due, but when the bank finally demanded payment Mrs. Dudley set up the claim that she was not an original signer, but simply a surety, and that she had received no benefit therefrom. Dr. Dudley made no defense, expecting a ruling holding both parties responsible.

The taking of testimony was taken yesterday afternoon.

Jessie M. Merrill was grented a divorce from Chas. A. Merrill yesterday afternoon on the ground of desertion and given the custody of the three children. The parties are residents of Beloit.

LOCAL COAL DEALERS DISPLEASED

Explanation of Why the Black Diamonds Are Cheaper at Milton.

A number of the local coal dealers are anything but plessed with the idea of Milton coal being brought to this city. John Carpenter, the well known dealer, says that when local dealers are today paying $6.70 a ton on the cars in this city, they can't very well sell it at $6.25 and make a living.

"That Milton man contracted for a lot of coal last summer at $5.10 a ton on the cars at Milton," said a local dealer, "and we did the same thing but with us the sellers have not lived up to their part of the contract, while the Milton man's contract is being observed."

FINE LOT OF HORSES SHIPPED.

George Charlton Sends Sixteen Animals to The Michigan Pineries.

Horse buyers in the vicinity of the stock yards yesterday afternoon had the pleasure of seeing as fine a lot of animals as have left the city in many a day. George Charlton shipped a lot of sixteen to the pineries of Michigan, they weighing on an average of 1,600 pounds each. A car of oats and a car of hay left with them, for feed in the pineries is a trifle high at present.

DID INGALLS TELL A "PIPE STORY?"

SOME KANSAS PEOPLE ARE AFTER HIS SCALP.

Say he Said He Was Snowbound Here So as to Avoid Meeting His Political Rival at Chicago's Gathering Which Statement Was Not in Conformity With Fact.

How much of a "pipe-story" did Ex-senator John J. Ingalls hang on the wire at the Janesville telegraph office on the day he lectured to a Janesville audience?

The people of the state of Kansas, from whence came the tall gentleman with the high collar and scintillating wit, would like much to know.

Yea, exceedingly.

A dispatch from Topeka to the Chicago papers tells the story like this:

"The Kansas delegation in attendance at the Million club meeting at the Central Music hall, Chicago, Monday night, returned today and many were the criticisms of ex-Senator Ingalls for failure to be present. The date of the meeting was fixed by Ingalls himself three weeks ago. Senator Ingalls telegraphed that he was snowbound at Janesville, Wis. To fully satisfy themselves, the Kansas politicians in Chicago, ascertained that there was no snow blockade at Janesville, and that Ingalls could have been present if he had so desired. It is said that the ex-senator refused to speak because the Million club invited J. R. Burton, Ingalls' only competitor for United States senatorship. Several prominent republican leaders, formerly for Ingalls, have since declared for Burton."

ALL SOULS, The People's Church

We hold there is no escape from the consequences of wrong doing. Sin is its own punishment. The man who does wrong, wrongs himself more than any one else. The soul is debased and brutalized whenever a man consciously indulges in that against which his reason and conscience revolt. God does not damn us, but we damn ourselves. Our own wrong doing is our punishment. If a man sins, the sin is a poison which corrupts his moral nature and degrades his character. But if we do right, the righteous act is itself our adequate blessing and reward. Every right deed, every noble aspiration, every true word gives to our character a greater Godlikeness. There is no sin more sinful than the attempt to evade the just consequences of our sin.

PRENTICE & EVENSON

FOR FUTURE CAMPAIGNS.

Effective Way for Women to Keep Personalities Out of Politics.

"To what am I indebted for the honor of this call?"

It was Mrs. Mary Ellen Ricketts who spoke. She held in her hand the card of Mrs. Samantha Jenkinson, which had just been laid on her desk by the office girl, for the card was followed almost instantly by the entrance of the person whose name it bore.

There was really no necessity for the use of the card, either, for the two had frequently met.

Mrs. Ricketts was the candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, while Mrs. Jenkinson was the Democratic nominee. Under the circumstances it was natural for her to be surprised at receiving a call from her opponent.

"I came to see you on a small matter of business," replied the visitor.

"Pray proceed."

"I have learned from good authority that your managers are bent upon a campaign of personalities, and that they intend to give to the press certain slanderous gossip about me intended to injure my candidacy."

The speaker paused, and Mrs. Ricketts said interrogatively:

"Well?"

"Well," echoed Mrs. Jenkinson, "we must keep personalities out of the campaign."

"We must, must we?"

"We must."

Mrs. Ricketts sneered.

Mrs. Jenkinson waxed wroth.

"Look here, Mary Ellen Ricketts," she exclaimed, "don't you dare to turn up your snub nose at me, now."

"Samantha Jenkinson," retorted Mrs. Ricketts, "my nose is not a snub, and don't you dare to presume to dictate what my managers shall or shall not do in this campaign."

"We'll see about that. Mary Ellen Ricketts, you were engaged to my husband in your younger days, a good many years ago."

"I'm not nearly as old as you, I'd have you know."

"You are!"

"I'm not, you insulting thing!"

"You are!"

"I'm not!"

"We will pass that point, but I want to say that when I married my husband all your love-letters were still in his possession, and I have them now."

"You spiteful thing!"

"Many a good laugh I've had over them. What a perfect goose you were!"

"I just hate you, so there!"

"And I merely wish to add that on the very first publication of a personality about me in your newspaper organs I shall print in the Daily Bugle every single one of your mushy, lackadaisical epistles. Do you understand?"

The two women glared at each other a half minute, and then Mrs. Samantha Jenkinson withdrew, leaving Mrs. Mary Ellen Ricketts deep in thought.

The campaign was conducted without any personalities.—Harper's Bazar.

Lowell's Patriotism.

The next year he was called to the service of his country whose foundation he had been celebrating in song. He was sent in 1877 as American minister to Spain, where another man of letters, Washington Irving, had preceded him half a century before. In 1880 he was transferred from Madrid to London. No American minister ever made himself more welcome among a foreign people than Lowell was among the British. And his popularity was not due to any attempts to please their prejudices; Lowell never gave up any of his Americanism—rather on occasion did he affirm it. Nowhere more plainly than in England was Lowell's Americanism seen to be ingrained. With him patriotism was almost a passion. In sending him to Great Britain the United States put its best foot forward, and our kin across the sea were quick to understand the opportunity offered to them; and by their request Lowell delivered in England many public addresses—formal orations some of them, while others were but off-hand speeches after dinner. But whatever the occasion, Lowell was equal to it.—("James Russell Lowell," by Brander Matthews, in St. Nicholas.

Working by the Eye.

The advance in the accuracy of workmanship in machinery is one of the remarkable features of manufactures. Formerly if a shaft could be made right within 1-32 of an inch all was well. Indeed, under old processes this was as fine a degree of correctness as the eye could perceive. But this was altogether too far from perfect to answer many purposes, and mechanics set about devising some means to insure more absolute accuracy. One of the first suggestions that the eye was less reliable than the fingers came from the fitting of certain cylinders with plugs. It was found that a number of plugs could be made all precisely alike so far as the eye could judge, but the veriest novice detected a difference in their size the moment they were applied to the hole for which they were intended. It is said that now the difference of 1-5000 of an inch can readily be perceived by the most inexperienced person.

Same Old Story.

Mrs. Poppin—Don't you miss your husband very much, now that he is away?

Mrs. Golightly—Oh, not at all. You see, he left me plenty of money, and at breakfast I just set a newspaper up in front of his plate and half the time I forget that he is not there.

Important Contributions.

"And so you have started in to establish a magazine?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Bullions.

"Do you write for it?"

"You bet I do. I write about seventeen pages a week for it—in my check book."

Quickly Pacified.

Husband (furiously)—Here's my best meerschaum pipe broken! How in the name of sense did that happen?

Wife—I don't know, except that when I got up this morning I found your meerschaum pipe in the front hall, and your overshoes on the parlor mantel-piece.

Husband (mildly)—Oh, well, accidents will happen. I presume there has been an earthquake or something.—N. Y. Weekly.

5 AND 10 CENT STORE,
ON THE BRIDGE.

It has been told of Abraham Lincoln, that he once said "God must like common people since there are so many of us." We are selling a large assortment of 5c, 10c, 25c, 50c and $1.00 goods, suitable to the season. We find that it pays to cater to the small things in trade and thereby reach the great quantity and masses of people. Our goods are nicely laid out and you can easily examine them.
